CONVENTION FEATURES

The theme of this year's convention is "INKWELLS-INKWELLS-INKWELLS"

Attendees will be able to buy, sell, and learn more about inkwells while enjoying the fellowship of other collectors.

Seminars will be held Friday and Saturday morning with a hosted lunch on Friday.

Free Trading tables will be available in a lockable room through out the convention. Members may put any ink related items out for sale.

Thursday evening July 12th we will be hosted to a reception at the Barbara Bureker & Phil Lepley home in Battleground, WA. Transportation will be provided.

Our traditional 200 piece auction will be held on Friday afternoon, conducted by a professional auctioneer.

Saturday morning will consist of a seminar and the membership meeting. Transportation will be available by 10:45 to shuttle folks to the Palmer/Wirfs Antique & Collectible Show, or to the Portland Pen Show.

Our banquet will be held on Saturday evening at the Hotel. Awards and raffle prizes will be presented. This year's raffle selections are a nice inkstand and the 275 page book on Inks published by Ed & Judy Faulkner.

Sunday will be the convention "afterglow" session where we will informally discuss any topic of interest to inkwell collectors.
